

Resume :*The perspective developing of the small and the medium companies in Algeria to face the competevity

The economists don't argue about the importance and the role of the small and medium companies in the employment, the investment and the decrease of the economic development rate. Many world countries care about its different economic power to give the subvention, advice and council for guarantee the continuity of its both dynamic sector and local economic development. So find usually the benefit of the big companies from this sector as (its source which gives the raw materials or gain from it in subvention the production operations in it. So, we r going to try through this study to evaluate the actual situation of the medium and the small companies in Algeria. To know the obstacles and the existing negative sides compared with developed countries. The establishing of this background will help for future plan of this sector with the concentration at the importance of its continuity and its growth.

We will talk also about the actual threats which exit in this dynamic sector, because of the technical evolution and the appearance of the world trade organisation as a (factor) concentrate to open the markets for competevity and cancel all the constraint which impose the subvention and protecting the local companies. Knowing the threats and the world evolution will help to adopt the suitable solutions to set the economy to cohabit with the new situation and guaranteed continuity and growth of the medium and small companies. On the light of all that, we will give some suitable solutions which may support continuity and capacity of the sector to stay and (competitive) with achieving (the looking economic growing). So, it put a completed conceit about the required future direction for Algerian economy. Finally, we will discus in this study about some points which we think it is important, which are :

* Analysis the actual situation in Algeria for the medium and small companies from the following sides:

Its capacity of competevity and continuity.

The subvention volume given to it and its quality.

The influence of the climate and environment on its work.

Analysis the actual world evolution effects at the medium and small Algerian companies capacity in the competevity and continuity. The future solutions to subvent this sector so that it can face the evolutions and participate in the Algerian economic development
